Dear Madam or Sir,

We are pleased to invite you to the 16 International Scientific Conference of Professor Vldas Gronskas. The conference will be held remotely on 2 December 2021.

This conference is an excellent opportunity for master and Ph.D. students or other researchers working in social science and applied informatics to share their discoveries, disseminate scientific ideas and establish academic contacts!

About the conference:

There are six sections of the conference:

- Development of business, innovation, and entrepreneurship.
- Solutions of accounting and finance problems and improvement in these areas.
- Principles of sustainability and sustainable development.
- Cultural and creative industries and innovations.
- Organizational ethics and responsibility.
- Information and communication technologies in finance, management, and marketing Solutions.

Take a chance to publish your article in the ISI Web of Science journal! The two best articles will be published in Transformations in business & economics (TIBE).

Please note that the presentation limit is 15 minutes, and only the authors of the two best articles would be kindly asked to submit the manuscript for print. The time for the preparation of the manuscript is foreseen after the conference.
